VOLUME XLIX

GRAYLING, MICHIGAN, OCTOBER 6, 1927

NUMBER 40

GOLF TOURNAMENT FINISHED SUNDAY

The tournament given by the Grayling Golf club was concluded last Sunday with a large number of players on the course. The event got a poor start due to the continued rains, but the enthusiasm of the players was not dimmed and the interest kept up until the last player putted for the final hole. The weather was quite ideal on the last day and except for considerable water in a few places the course was wonderful, and we doubt if finer greens can be found on any course in Michigan.

The Winners

Group No. 1—O. W. Hanson.
Group No. 2—Fred Alexander.
Group No. 3—E. J. Olson.
Group No. 4—Rev. Fr. Culligan.
Group No. 5—Emil Kraus.

In the play-off, Fred Alexander was high with a score of 82; Rev. Fr. Culligan, 2nd, 83. Mr. Alexander was awarded the capital prize of a steel shaft driver, given by the Golf club. Rev. Culligan, second prize, a McGraw-Hill putter, given by Carl Peterson.

The Cricket sweater given by Grayling Mercantile Co. was won by Marius Hanson, for having the lowest number of strokes on hole No. 3 for four rounds of play, his score being 18.

The driving contest was won by Harold Schmidt with a record of 175 yards. Prize, golf bag, given by Olat Sorenson & Sons.

The lowest score on the last nine greens play was won by Howard Schmidt, the score being 16 strokes. Prize, half dozen golf balls by Grayling Golf club.

Lowest score on last nine, group winners not included, was won by Waldemar Olson with a score of 46. Prize, dozen golf balls by C. W. Olsen.

Consolation prize went to Dr. C. H. Keyport, which wins a box of tees, the doctor being off form during the tournament, which was taken advantage of by the newer players.

Waldemar Olson, who headed the committee on the tournament says it was a great success in spite of the inclement weather and rainy days. The course was in wonderful condition and the greens equal to any to be found anywhere.

Several of the members of the club who are conceded to be exceptionally good players seemed to be unable to keep up with their season's averages and failed to win prizes. No doubt they will give better account of themselves in future events.

This was a handicap tournament and its principles may need some explanation here. The records of each player are kept during the season and the par scores subtracted from their records. This number is divided by two which determines the amount of the handicap. This averages the scores so that the poorer players have an equal chance with the better players.

The boys who complain because they can't walk to school this fall were apparently able to run bases all summer.

Many parents who can't control one or two children blame the teacher if she is not able to handle 40 or 50 of them.

Some people think modern dancing is too much like that of the savages, but the savages probably know enough to go home by midnight anyway.

DO YOU KNOW

That a single resort development in East Michigan, which the East Michigan Tourist Association aided in securing, resulted in the expenditure of $200,000 which will be augmented annually?

That the East Michigan Tourist Association territory encompasses 37 counties?

That virtually every Chamber of Commerce in this territory is a member of the East Michigan Tourist Association.

GOING BIG FOR WINTER SPORTS

Statistics prove that Grayling is one of the most ideally located cities in Michigan for winter sports and it is the plan of the local sports committee to go into it on a much improved and enlarged scale.

With an average snowfall of 70 inches and an average temperature of 17 degrees above zero during the winter months makes that necessary feature ideal. And sitting in a field that provides every other natural feature, such as just the right kind of hills and one of the finest lakes so nicely located near the city, we are exceptionally fortunate.

Trunk Line M-93 leads directly to Lake Margrethe from Grayling and is kept open all winter. And also the location is on the Hanson State Military reservation, which is also a state park. This assures us, according to the promise of State Park Commissioner Hoffmaster, financial aid from the state.

The plans of the local committee require an expenditure of about $1,000. The public will be asked to purchase family tickets, which will entitle them to the use of the slides, skating places and other features. The Village Council, seeing the big advantage to come to Grayling, by having a well provided and well regulated winter sports resort, has provided a fund of $200 to go toward the cost. Petoskey and other city councils in some of the northern cities also have appropriated substantial sums for similar activities.

The arrangements for this place are in good hands and the funds are sure to be well and capably handled. It is understood that the local committee will also provide benefit entertainments for the good of the cause. Hundreds of Grayling people and many from neighboring cities have enjoyed winter sports here for the past two years and it has gotten to a point where it is almost demanded. Others who come to this region in the summer time manifest the desire to spend some time here each winter just as soon as there is an assurance that that form of recreation may be had when they get here.

100 DOLLAR DAY

In this issue of the Avalanche our readers will find some healthy bargains in nearly every kind of merchandise. Real bargains with profits cut out are being offered. Read every advertisement, don't miss a single one, and you will be the gainer.

Why these unusual offers? Enterprising stores everywhere at times find it necessary to do something sensational to stimulate new business. Dollar-day sales will do that in a great way and the stores giving them will profit by seeing new customers enter their places of business and then it is up to the owners to prove to the people that they are running a store where it is a good place to trade. Where customers will be treated courteously and where their dollars will receive a dollar's worth of merchandise every day in the week.

Come to town next Saturday, bring your friends, and take advantage of the offers that are being made. Some of the bargains to be had that day will astonish you by their exceptional value.

Next Saturday, Oct. 8th, is the big day in Grayling. Don't forget the date and don't fail to be there.

REPORT OF COUNTY NURSE FOR SEPTEMBER

By Miss Keenan

September has been quite a busy month with me, the weighing and measuring along with getting acquainted with the pupils has been intensely interesting. If my plans do not fall or lapse, what a wonderful community and county we will have along the health line.

Following I submit my health report for September:
Total visits to or in behalf of cases, 29.

Total visits to homes, 32.
School visits, 47.
Interviews in nurse's office, 4.

Specimens collected, 1 throat culture.
Number of children partially inspected by nurse, 436.
Number of children with defects, 215.

Number who have had defects corrected, 86.
Number parent consultations, 23.
Number sanitary inspections, 5.

Number health drills, 5.
Number class room talks, 6.
You will note a number of defects were found in the school children, but many corrections have been made.

Our milk idea is progressing nicely considering that every child must pay for one-half pint each day. The country school children are bringing their milk to school also, and the average of underweights are diminishing.

My plans for the future are the Junior Red Cross activity, the teaching of home hygiene and care of the sick.

INDIAN RIVER GOLF COURSE ALWAYS GREEN
(By E. M. T. Service)

One of the popular golf courses of northern Michigan during the past summer was the one at Indian River. The course possesses unusually sporty elements for the golfer, but one of its real appeals this season was its exceptional condition.

The Indian River course is one of the limited number of clubs in the state which retained its normal appearance in the very dry season. Despite little rain, it looked good all season.

This was due to the fact that flowing wells are used to water the greens and there was always plenty of water available.

ENTITLED TO FAIRNESS
Railroads are entitled to fair earnings on fair capitalizations. They are entitled to such liberal control restrictions, by federal and state utility commissions to permit them to expand and to grow in usefulness.

A community served only by a broken-down rattletrap carrier soon reflects the condition of the carrier, or vice versa. Railroads that prosper help the territory traversed to prosper.

School Notes

Editors—Isbrand Harder, Marius Hanson, Ellen Speck.

The Senior class has elected class officers. They are as follows:
Class Advisor—Mr. Cushman.
President—Amos Hunter.

Vice-President—Marius Hanson.
Secretary—Isbrand Harder.
Treasurer—Martha Bidvia.

The class consists of sixteen seniors. This is just a good sized class; it is not too large, nor is it too small.

Our football team met the Gladwin team on the local field Friday. It was an exciting game, both teams worked hard, and the score at the end of the first half was 2 to 0 in favor of Gladwin.

Gladwin had a heavier and more experienced team and this is what counted in the end. The final score was 15 to 0, in favor of Gladwin.

There was a large turnout of students and adults. The school wishes to thank the rooters for showing such a splendid interest in our boys and cordially invites you to attend all future games.

A large turnout is expected to see us play ball with Kalkaska, Wednesday, Oct. 5.

Last Thursday night a PEP meeting was held in the high school auditorium. Nearly the whole student body was present. During the meeting the lights went out, causing a great deal of commotion, but the spirits weren't darkened and before disbanding, all went down town, stopped at every street corner on main street, cheering, singing songs and advertising the football game.

The high school has chosen Amos Hunter for athletic manager. His duties are to take charge of the selling and collecting of tickets when games are in town, also the advertising. And when games are out of town to provide transportation for the team.

Mr. Smith to students in back row—"Can you hear me back there?" Students (in unison)—"No."

Miss Lindstrom—"What is an island?"
Milford P.—"A place where the bottom of the sea sticks up through the water."

Miss Clark—"What were Webster's last words?"
Betty W.—"Zyrian, Zythum, Zyzle."

Miss Adams (in Biology class)—"A biped is anything that goes on two feet. Biped, can you name one?"
Libby M.—"Yes, ma'am, a pair of stockings."

Miss Lee (to schoolmates contributor)—"Are you sure this account is perfectly original?"
Ellen G.—"Well, not entirely, you may find one or two words in the dictionary."

"Paradichlorobenzene" is the latest big word. It is used to describe a compound, fatal to the peach tree bore.

Earle—"Say, you don't have to worry over that ten dollars you owe me."
Edward—"Why?"
Earle—"Because, it's no use both of us worrying."

"Where are you going, little fies?"
"I'm going to the dogs."

Miss Adams (in Biology)—"Can anyone tell me how to avoid diseases from biting insects?"
Marius H.—"Yes, don't bite them."

Ruth rode in my new cycle car in the seat in back of me; I took a bump at fifty-five, and rode on ruthlessly.

The physics class is studying the density of matter. And speaking of a dense substance, wonder if any of them ever thought of their heads.

REDPATH ENTERTAINMENT COURSE

EXCELLENT PROGRAM SELECTED FOR COMING SEASON

The Redpath Lyceum course for the coming season has been announced by its local sponsors—the Epworth League. The program is varied so as to give as wide a range of entertainment as is possible.

The first number will be the Jay Tobias Company. This will be an evening of laughter, for Mr. Tobias is claimed to be "The funniest man since Bill Nye." He will be ably assisted by a good company. The date is October 20th.

The second number, November 18, is Laurant, "the man of many mysteries."

The third number will be "The Spanish Revelers." A musical number that promises the people the kind of music they like. They are dated for December 5th.

Jean MacDonald, a versatile reader, has appeared in Grayling before, and needs no introduction. She will be here February 1st.

The closing number will be Paul J. Barney, entertainer, February 21st. He offers a program of crayon work that is claimed by dramatic critics as "Truly different."

The entertainments will be held in the Michelson Memorial church, where there is comfortable seating and it is always warm, and the surroundings are delightfully pleasant. The season tickets are generously low in price—Adults, $2.00; high school students, 75 cents, and grade children 50 cents.

These speeders who overturn their automobiles should be informed that these machines were made to run on their wheels and not on their tops.

The fellow who made up that proverb about distance lending enchantment to the view, had probably noticed people going away from home to buy goods.

Not merely is the social fabric said to be weakening, but many of us find our trouser seats getting thin.

Michelson Memorial Church

John Wilfred Greenwood, Minister.

Sunday, October 8th, 1927

At 10:30 A. M., Morning Worship. We are getting a better and more worthwhile service all the time. The theme for next Sunday will be "Breaking Camp." Special music at this service.

At 11:45 A. M., the bigger and better Church School that we have been planning. Thursday night at 7:30 P. M., all those who teach in the Sunday School, those who would like to teach in the Sunday School, and those who love to study God's Word together are to be privileged to join a Teacher's Training class. The pastor will be the teacher.

At 7:30 P. M., a popular talk for young people. The theme will be "Your street and number, please." You can't afford to miss this service.

A Thought for The Week
Why go to church? So the question is often asked. Evelyn Underhill gives this splendid testimony: "Ordinary people at all levels help each other to be more supernatural than each could have been alone." Men are swayed and moved by the powers of suggestion. There is a seepage of contact with saintly souls, both living and dead, which makes it easier for us to believe in strength and holiness. So too, the spirit of devotion is raised by the symbolism within the place of worship, by the building which has been literally bathed in prayer, by the beauty of the architecture, the rituals, the music, for such elements have claimed the highest artistic talents for centuries.

Most of the opposition to church worship in these days comes from our vital individualists. They forget that in religion as in any other field that it is better to play the game than to be a side-line cynic.

Not merely is the social fabric said to be weakening, but many of us find our trouser seats getting thin.

"A good material that saved me money"

"That's what CELOTEX did, and here is how I figured it. First, I used CELOTEX for finishing and got stronger insulation with less material. Second, CELOTEX was used in place of lath and the plaster bonds more securely on CELOTEX. It cost a trifle more, but I have paid dearly in the past for plaster patches and with CELOTEX I got a stronger sound-deadened wall that will be free from lath marks.
"I was able to put in a smaller heating plant and less radiation because I used CELOTEX—so, you see, I saved three ways."

The story of what CELOTEX can do for you is merely suggested in this business man's remarks.

WHY GIRLS GO WRONG

Laxity of parents and undesirable conduct in automobiles are causes of why many girls go wrong, according to Adjutant Maude Lee of the Salvation Army, who has charge of a new home for women in Denver, Col.

Young girls of a certain type lined up at favorite meeting places in many towns, looking for young men known or unknown, to come along with automobiles and give them rides, constitute a somewhat ominous sight.

Pathetic little creatures, these girls are. They are reaching out more or less innocently and with restless feverishness, for their share of the world's fun and glitter. Fluttering like moths around the flame, some are destined to get their wings singed, while parents at home mourn the follies of the younger generation.

If you talked with the parents of these girls and their boy friends, they would say they cannot control these youngsters. Yet for many years these same parents were the only means by which their children could obtain food, clothes, and all the things they clamor for. The parents would seem to have a control over that situation, if they had the force and judgment to use it right.

THE SCHOOL YEAR

The American people, no doubt, chase money too hard. They often decline to support good causes adequately. But they do spend a lot of money on their schools.

You can get in most communities more money for schools for the children, than for the roads over which we drive our cars and haul our products, or for the police that protect our lives, or for the firemen who save our buildings.

Are the children cooperating with all this money spent for their benefit alone?

When one sees many of them putting their first energy into football and dancing, one has doubts.

Now listen, boys and girls of Grayling. Suppose that during this school year you take hold of your books with the same energy with which you take hold of your dancing and football. You could do in six or seven years the work that now ordinarily takes eight, or in 10 years the work that takes 12.

This would save a lot of money. Many more of you could go to high school and colleges. You would all be self-supporting, and have your own money and the fun and comforts that you want at an earlier date. It will give you a quicker start in the world, help you to get on faster. Think it over, youngsters!

TRUE SPORTSMEN

(By Erwin Greer, President Greer School of Electrical & Automotive Trades, Chicago, Ill.)

Never in the history of automobile racing has that sport been besmirched with scandal. Baseball, horse racing, boxing—yes, and even the king of college sports, football, have all been smeared with the mud of scandal. But automobile racing alone has stood the test and the pastime of the speedway is often referred to as the only "Chemically Pure" professional sport.

In no other sport are the hazards as great as those of the kings of the roaring plankway. They take their very lives in their strong hands as they grip the steering wheel.

Possibly, it is because of the hazards that these daring sportsmen are banded so closely and harmoniously together. They know that a foul may cause disaster—yes, may even cost the lives of some of those men with whom they compete, all of whom are "foemen worthy of their steel."

Auto racing was not founded for financial gain but for the advancement of automotive engineering through the competition of ideas. The automobile of tomorrow will be as different from the car of today as the car of today is different from the first "horseless carriage." Auto racing has been responsible for more than seventy-five per cent of the improvements of the motor car made in the past twenty years, and racing may be expected to play at least as important a part in the development of automobile transportation in the future.

An automobile racing camp harbors less enmity and better fellowship than is displayed on any college campus. For these men do not harbor the animosities so seemingly necessary to college competitions.

Before the race and after the racing drivers are the best of friends. But on the track they duel with might and main. However, they observe the rules and play the game as it is written in the book.

That is why automobile racing is ever an interesting sport. It is above reproach, the drivers are always trying to the last ounce of physical energy and the last shot of their motor—and it advances your comfort, safety and the world's greatest industry.

The former also visited their daughter in Perry, Michigan and their son, F. C. Gothro, in Detroit while away. On their return they drove back a nice new Chrysler brougham, purchased while away, and accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Bert Gothro to their home, remaining over Sunday.

Ground was broken Monday morning for a new addition to the Alfred Hanson Service Station. Ben Domke of Bay City, who recently completed the new addition and front of the H. Hanson building, has the contract for the work. The whole building is to be rebuilt, the new part to be of solid brick and the old part to be of veneer with the entrance changed somewhat. The building when finished will be 58 x 110 feet and Mr. Hanson says he expects to have the finest equipped and most up-to-date garage in northern Michigan when completed. He will be equipped to do repairing, vulcanizing, and have storage space.

Grayling high school gridirers went down to defeat last Friday by the fast Gladwin high school eleven, to the score of 15-0.

Gladwin presented a light, but smooth-working, aggressive football machine and crashed through Grayling's defense time and time again for gains. Grayling, on the other hand, seemed incapable of putting in to play its football so gallantly demonstrated at the first of the season and time and time again bucked the line only to find a stone wall upon their arrival. Grayling made a few gains however and the longest of these came via Brady to V. Smith and then Grayling threatened to score, but couldn't gain the ground necessary to put the ball over.

Coach Cushman is rebuilding his team this week, sending Brady to the line and putting Wylie into the backfield. This looks like a formidable change and with a doubt, being better results in their future contests. Brady has the pounds to put the finishing touches on Cushman's team and along with LaVack, Kovick and Kandi, the things look a little more business-like, and should prove an answer to the problem of building a line.

Wylie is a fast, well-built chap who, with the coaching and training of Cushman, will, in all probability, prove a great asset for his backfield.

With these changes, Grayling should be a good match for almost any Class C team.

GRAYLING 52; KALKASKA 9
Coach Cushman's High School Warriors again defeated and hazy-thundered a decisive drubbing, blanketing the visitors 52-9 under an avalanche of forward passes, line plunges and end runs here Wednesday afternoon.

The first five minutes of play had hardly elapsed when "Dance Brady" called back from the line, heaved one of his long passes to V. Smith and Smith went over for the first touchdown, about three minutes elapsing between this play and the kick-off.

Then V. Smith took the ball over via line plunges for a score. After a series of line bucks, all of which worked to great advantage for the local gridirers, Fenton took the ball over the back field for Grayling. Smith took a pass from Brady for the extra point, making the score at the

Silo Is Right

This fall will be one of the great ones in many years that the silo is right. The farmer who has even a small silo will be strictly "in luck." There is no way known to take care of frosted corn that equals the silo.

Frosted corn, that would soon be a rotten, useless mess on the hands of the farmer who does not have a silo can be put into a silo and make good feed all winter.

28 or 30

There are 28 or 30 silos in Crawford county.

Why can there not be more? Certainly more are needed. It can't be possible that if silos are good for 28 or 30 farmers, they will not be good for the others.

In our travels throughout the state we have often seen silos on log barns and on more shed or shanty barns. Those silos will be a big help in building better barns.

In Oscoda County

On a certain farm in our neighborhood on the east, Oscoda co., we saw a case in which a farmer, who evidently had a lot of grit and spunk and spirit of "try," had met the situation with practically not a dollar. He had jackknives sawed into scantlings (2x4 inches), set them on end, edge to edge, hooped it with a few strands of No. 9 smooth fence wire, filled, and had good ensilage. With a six-foot pit in the ground and 20-foot studding above he had the equivalent of a 20-foot silo. Such a silo, if 12 feet in diameter, holds 55 tons, enough to feed a good bunch of stock all winter.

Why can we not have along our own farmers more of the same kind of fighting spirit, the spirit of refusing to be "downed," the spirit that insists on a higher degree of success on the farm?

The new conditions must be met by new methods, for sooner or later, destiny waits just around the corner with a stuffed club for the laggard who fails to see the new light."

—Lumberman's Magazine.

Can You Use This? Much is being said this fall about trench silos. Hundreds, probably thousands of them, and pit silos are being used in the Dakotas, Nebraska, Kansas, Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, Colorado. Believing that there is much merit in the emergency trench silo, as advocated by the Blue Valley Creamery company, we have secured 100 copies of the following little bulletin, and are mailing them to our farmers this week. Everybody should receive his copy by this week Saturday. At least, please read it.

AN EMERGENCY SILO

Trench Silo Will Save Corn (Advance Print, October Blue Valley Bulletin) The man who has a silo this year is indeed lucky, as much of the corn will be soft and some of it doubtless frost-bitten so badly as to be practically useless, unless it is put in the silo before the frost comes.

Fortunately farmers in many sections of the country can have a silo now, according to the experiences of the North Dakota farmers with trench silos, as reported by the College of Agriculture of that state. The trench silo has been used for many years in the Northwest, and there is nothing about it that prevents it from being practical on any farm where the land is rolling enough to give drainage for a basement to a house, according to C. M. Long, chief of the Farm Service of the Blue Valley Creamery Institute.

There are many advantages to this kind of silo. It requires no cash-outlay for either building or filling. It can be built and filled by equipment now on any farm since, as the name implies, it is merely a trench dug in the ground, into which entire bundles of corn can be put. For these reasons it might be called "The Banker's Silo." If the corn crop will make more silage than is needed this year, it will keep in the trench silo until next summer or next year, or even several years from now, if necessary. Since the trench silo is so easily and cheaply built and filled, many farmers plan to use it this fall to save their late corn crop. Of course, it will have to be built before the first heavy frost comes.

How to Build Trench Silo To build the trench silo, merely take a team, plow and scraper and open up a trench up and down any of its width and depth, depending upon the number of cows to be fed. Usually it is not built more than eight feet deep and frequently much more shallow than this. To get the correct width, multiply the number of cows and other stock to be fed by five and divide the number obtained by the depth of trench desired. For example, if four cows are to be fed and a trench five feet deep is desired, multiply four by five, which is twenty. Then by dividing twenty by five, four is obtained for the width of the silo in feet. As the top of the trench should be wider than the bottom, add the width at top to that at the bottom, and divide by two to get the average width.

To get the length, multiply the number of months you intend to feed silage by six. If enough silage for six months' feeding is wanted, multiply six by six, which is 36, as the number of feet in length for the trench. While care should be used not to get a trench too wide, there is no danger of getting it too long. Whatever silage is left in the spring can be fed next summer or next winter, if the end of the trench is covered carefully when barn feeding is stopped in the spring.

Let Morses Tramp Silage

The best silage is made with a regular silage cutter, but if one of these machines is not available, whole stalks may be put in the silage. Fill the trench full and round it up. Then cover the silage with straw, cut by a silage cutter if one is used. After the straw has been wetted thoroughly, cover it with hay or slough grass and then with dirt. Here again the team and scraper can be used. When silage is wanted, open up the lower end and slice off what is needed daily with a sharp corn knife or a hay fork, as is done in cutting attacked hay.

Regardless of whether there are few or many cows, the trench silo can be used to excellent advantage on many farms.

Better Way to Shock Corn

To those who do not use a silo of some kind, we venture to suggest that on many farms we visited there are better ways to shock the corn, and to handle it than is usually practiced. (1) Instead of bending four stalks together and fastening their tips to hold the shock up, it will be found far better to use a light board, 1 by 3 inches, or a small cedar pole 2 inches in diameter, about 10 feet long with two legs on one end to raise one end of pole about hip high. About 3 feet from high end, bore an inch hole through which put a broom handle.

The old-fashioned practice of starting a shock with 4 cornstalks drawn in from 4 sides of a square must try the temper at least, when moving the shock, with 4 stalks still uncut.

(2) More people around here are now using the "corn horse," described above, than use the "stake method." However, they do not go far enough. They build one big, solid shock containing from 50 to 100 hills around this "horse," tie it into one big solid shock, pull the broomstick and start another. Then how they lift on that big shock when they haul in the fodder!

(3) We have found that a neat, handy way to shock corn is to make a light, fair-sized bundle in each of the four quarters made by the broomstick passing through the 10 foot pole, tie each bundle separately, then tie the four bundles together with one heavy string. This makes just as neat a shock as the old method.

The writer has two shocks on his Gaylord farm, but for thirty years there has often been some extra corn to shock. In doing so, we have followed the very satisfactory method of making four bundles around the "horse," tying them separately, then tying all into a shock. To draw the four bundles into the shock, we have, all these years, used a piece of rope three-eighths to half an inch in diameter, with an iron ring about as big as a man's watch, on one end. Walk up to the shock. Throw the ring end of the rope around the shock. The weight of the ring helps make it swing around the shock to meet you. Put other end of rope through ring. Put your foot against shock and pull. You can thus draw the bundles right down tight, snip and snuff. Pull a binding twine off your left suspender, where you have been carrying a bunch of them. Tie the shock above where the tightening rope rests. Tie with a bow-knot, so you can come day take hold of the free end of knot and loosen it with one pull, just as you tie a horse if you tie him right. Take off your rope. The outward spring of the stalks makes the binding string fit snug.

(4) For heaven's sake, get your corn fodder out of the field before the butts are frozen in, and you have to leave a lot of stalks in the field or chop, chop to get them loose. To do all this, besides waiting until the snow is nearly waist deep, should drive boys from home.

(5) There are those who use their heads and find the following way better:

On a protected side of the barn they lay old boards or brush to stand the fodder on. Just before winter sets in drive to field. Remove outer binding string. There stand four dry bundles and each light enough to pitch onto load with a fork. Fodder then stood on the boards or brush by barn.

Better yet, people with foresight, all every spare space in barn, unused stalls, driving floor, odd spaces, with two shocks high of bundles standing on end, and one row of bundles right on top of the first. Set up so you will never lose a bundle by moulding. Piled flat in a mow, you are likely to lose them all.

But

If a farmer has a silo and unexpectedly has a little too much corn to get into it, the above methods are the best thing he can do. But, we dread to see him depend regularly on shocking to keep his fodder. It is a fearfully wasteful way to care for valuable corn fodder. Yes, I know, you say, "Why, they have done this way for hundreds of years, and you can see more using shocks than silos."

Yes, I know and admit it, my friend, but listen. With corn, put into a silo, there is practically no loss, neither of fodder nor juices. The corn, when taken out of a silo, is all there from butt of stalk to tip of leaves. The juice is there too, making this silage, though fed in winter, almost like summer feed for your cows. In trials in Vermont, they got 11 per cent more milk from silage than from same amount of dry fodder.

And as stalks don't you remember how dry they are? Do you remember the long butts and ends that have to be thrown out of mangers?

Stock did not get a thing out of them. Dead loss! Pleasant when pitching manure in spring, aren't they? Slow to yield up their fertilizing value to the land when plowed under. Can you stand this?

That's the least of the loss. It has been found by the feed chemists that the stalk is lost by action of the weather while standing shocked in the field. The stalks of well-shocked corn may look bright, but by chemical action of the weather, more than half the food value is gone into the air. Add to that the rotting of stalks standing in the field in a rainy fall or winter!

A thinking farmer refuses to stand such losses very long.

Dr. N. H. Traver of Lewiston has been appointed health officer of that village.

September weather was a freak. But sharp days were recorded as clear, seventeen part cloudy, and ten cloudy. Rain fell on twelve days.

Miss Angie Leece went to Detroit yesterday, taking her brother Harry to consult an oculist.

Frank R. Deckrow was down from Maple Forest, Saturday with a load of pigs, for which he found ready sale.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Broit returned to their home in Tecumseh, after a two months visit with their sons, S. B. and A. Broit of Beaver Creek.

A log-train on the hill broke in two Saturday, and one part getting started backward, crashed into the rear section and demolished a car.

All trains were delayed several hours.

Mrs. Rolla Brink is visiting at the old home on the Thump. She will visit Detroit before coming home. Rolla is disconsolate and "boarding round."

The W. H. M. S. of the M. E. church will meet with Mrs. Enevidsen Friday afternoon at 2:30. A good attendance is desired as the officers for the ensuing year will be elected.

Died—September 28, at the home of her daughter, in Savannah, N. Y., Mrs. Fanny Rose, aged 70 years. She was a sister of Mrs. Jeannette Woodworth of Grayling.

At the Republican Caucus, Tuesday evening, C. T. Jerome was elected chairman, and Fred Nairn, secretary. J. J. Niederer, Hugh Oaks, and John J. Niederer were appointed tellers, and the following delegates were elected to the county convention to be held the 4th inst.: R. D. Connine, Chas. Ingerson, Fred Hoelsi, S. C. Claggett, Geo. W. SCHOOL NOTES

Arthur Fournier, Editor
High School
The Sophomores have organized as follows:

President—Laura Nelson;
Secretary—Ethel Hoyt;
Treasurer—Holger Peterson;
Class Motto—"Step by Step";
Colors—Blue and Gold;
Flowers—Pansies and Roses.

Mesdames Fournier and Tromble were visitors at the high school this week.

Short hand recites from 3:30 to 4:00.
Visit chapel in the main room from 8:30 to 8:50.

Chemistry students are doing work with compounds of hydrogen and nitrogen.
Our new catalogues will be out this month.

Two classes in geometry recite to Mr. Bradley.

An effort will be made to place the Grayling school on the approved list, hence the highest standard required in our work.

Seventh Grade

After having Miss Dyer for our teacher for one month, all seventh grade pupils have concluded they like her very much.

Last Thursday and Friday we had the first examination of the year. To some it proved a failure, while others were successful. Algebraic equations and trigonometry were the grade and some found them very hard.

Mesdames Tromble and Fournier visited the sixth and seventh grades this week, and we think it would be well if more parents visited us.

Sixth Grade

Last month Miss Dyer appointed ten boys to take seats in the high school room. This month she selected ten girls.

Alice McCune and Laura Failing were the only ones who received 100 in spelling examination this month. Pupils in both 6th and 7th grades, having their names taken for which prizes were given.

Miss Dyer takes 15 minutes to read to us immediately after school calls.

Pupils not forming in as soon as the bell rings, have to forfeit their recess for a week.

Fifth Grade

The pupils have added ten pocket dictionaries to their list of books, by saving the wrappers obtained from Atlas.

Anna Blanshan has been absent the last week on account of sickness.

The 4th and 5th grades are preparing a very pretty program for Pioneer day, Oct. 10th.

Fourth Grade

In the spelling contest last week the B-division came out victorious.

Third Grade

The third grade have been writing little stories on the cotton plant during the past week.

First Grade

We are glad to welcome Ruby Reed back to school.

We now number eighty-six, and have there will be many who will be neither absent nor tardy during the year. Russell Coker was the only one who could claim that honor last year.

We are just as interested as ever in our collection of seeds and seed houses, and how Mother gets them ready for winter.

Local Politics

The political pot for this county is beginning to simmer a little—but will it not reach the boiling point before the election is held.

It is probably a foregone conclusion that the present officers will be re-nominated by the Republicans, except the sheriff, who having held two terms, is disqualified by statute.

Mr. Colleen has proved himself to be an efficient clerk, and has won the confidence and esteem of both bench and bar, in all that pertains to his work in court, while his record of the proceedings of the board of supervisors has been satisfactory to that body and to the people.

Mr. Failing, as register of deeds and deputy clerk has proved his competence. His records are models of neatness and are kept up to date.

Our modesty forbids any encomiums for the prosecuting attorney or circuit court commissioner, and we leave him in the hands of the people.

Mr. Coventry is acknowledged to be the peer, if not the superior, of any treasurer who has ever filled the office in this county.

In the discussions we have heard over the probable nominations for sheriff, four names have been mentioned. Fred Hoelsi, at present assessor of Grayling, Hugh Oaks, of Grayling, B. F. Sherman, of W. S. Chalkley of Maple Forest.

The office of coroner is one of importance, though in our midst, not often called upon to act, yet circumstances may arise to make it require the utmost promptness in action and knowledge, filling the position of sheriff. Dr. W. M. Woodworth and B. F. Sherman are the present incumbents, and are acknowledged capable of meeting any emergency that may arise.

Mr. Wm. Blanshan was elected surveyor two years ago, but declined, and Mr. Newman, appointed in his stead.

Physician's Society

At a meeting of the physicians held in the club rooms at Grayling, on September 22, 1927, the following members of the profession were present: Dr. Landau, of Bay City; Dr. O'Neal of Frederic; Dr. Cornelia Rosemon, of Grayling; Dr. Witter of West Branch; Dr. Keihle of Rose City; Dr. McKinnon and Birss of Lewiston; Drs. Woodworth and Insley of Grayling.

Dr. Woodworth was called to the chair, and Dr. Cornelia Rosemon presided. It was resolved at this meeting that a society be formed, including the following counties: Oscoda, Roscommon and Ogemaw, and that the name of this society should be O. M. C. O. R. O., and the society adopted a constitution which conforms with the Michigan State Medical society, and the following officers were elected:

President—Dr. Insley
Vice-President—Dr. Witter
Secretary—Dr. Cornelia
Treasurer—Dr. Keihle

YOUR kidneys! Do you realize what an important part they play in your health and length of life? Your kidneys are the blood filters. When they act sluggishly, waste poisons remain in the blood and make one tired and drowsy, with often nagging backache, annoying headaches, dizzy spells. That the kidneys are not acting right is often shown by scanty or burning excretions. Assist the kidneys with a stimulant diuretic. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's are endorsed the country over. ORDER MODIFYING AN ORDER ISSUED BY AUTHORITY OF ACT 230 OF THE PUBLIC ACTS OF 1925 MAKING A CLOSED SEASON ON BLACK GRAY AND FOX SQUIRRELS IN THE STATE FOR A PERIOD OF FIVE YEARS COMMENCING ON THE TWENTY-FIFTH DAY OF OCTOBER, 1927.

STATE OF MICHIGAN,
County of Ingham,

An order was issued by the Conservation Commission on the sixth day of July, 1927, making it unlawful to hunt, take or kill, or attempt to hunt, take or kill any gray, black or fox squirrels in the state for a period of five years from the twenty-fifth day of October, 1927.

It now appears that the order should be modified as it affects fox squirrels.

Therefore, the provisions of the above mentioned order prohibiting the hunting, taking, or killing or attempting to hunt, take or kill fox squirrels in the state is hereby rescinded. In all other respects the order issued on the sixth day of July, 1927, shall be and remain in full force and effect for the period of time mentioned therein.

The Avalanche wishes to make correction of the statement published in last week's edition about the closing of the Salling Hanson Company mill. Mr. Hanson says that the aviation field at T-Town was leased to the state and not given to them as a gift. Also, that the matter of pension of their old employees has not been terminated. These two phases of the write-up were taken from an article published in the Detroit News recently, with a half page write-up about the company and showing pictures of Mr. Hanson, Mr. Tromble and Peter Rasmussen, the old mill and logging scenes. Mr. Hanson says the News had not been authorized to make these statements and that Salling Hanson Company had not taken up the matter of pensioning their employees.

John Brewster, who has been playing with Schram's Ramblers this season, returned Saturday to his home in Wrentham.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Kelly and son Donald, Mrs. Minnie S. Ervin and son Ralph G. of Flint were in Grayling over Sunday visiting Roger S. Ervin.

Finley and Vernon Klingensmith left Saturday for their home in Sheffield, Pa., after being here for the summer playing with Schram's Ramblers.

Mrs. Walter Woodson returned to her home in Salisbury, N. C., Saturday after having spent several weeks at the summer home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Bauman.

Mr. and Mrs. George Alexander entertained twelve friends at a beautifully appointed dinner party Saturday evening. Three tables were filled for bridge later. Miss Lucille Hanson and O. N. Mickelson held high scores.

The Women's Home Missionary society, hearing that Mrs. Greenwood had a birthday, met at the M. E. parsonage Tuesday afternoon. The time was spent in visiting. A delicious pot luck lunch was served, and some nice gifts were presented to the guest of honor.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Legner, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Legner, Julius Legner and Mrs. John Rieker of Bay City visited at the R. J. Legner home Sunday. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Legner accompanied them, the former returning Tuesday, leaving his wife for a longer visit.

A letter from Mrs. J. M. Jones of Chablis, Wash., a former resident of Grayling, says she would just as soon miss a letter as to miss the Avalanche. She has moved to 983 Washington avenue, and it may be possible that some of her friends may wish to write her. Mrs. Jones says N. E. Bell, who formerly lived in Grayling and who no doubt be remembered by many, passed away at his home in Newburg, Oregon in July.

The Land Economic Survey of the State Department of Conservation that has been engaged for several months past in making a survey of Crawford county has completed their work, and the crew left Tuesday for their home.

This paper published an extensive resume recently of the work that they had been doing here. Their efforts will result in a most complete map of the county in almost every possible detail, which will be available for distribution about June 1st of next year. Mr. Wade DeVries, alone of the crew of surveyors, has been detailed to remain in Grayling for a few weeks longer to look up a number of facts that can only be found in the records at the court house. The latter says that in case there may be any information relative to any lands or conditions in the county that may be desired before the maps are available that the Department of Conservation at Lansing will gladly assist in getting it upon application.

Permanent streets are a good investment—not an expense

Don't Let Your Community Make the Same Mistake

Within recent years many communities have made the mistake of paving their highways at what they considered a "bargain price." The taxpayers thought they would save thousands of dollars.

In many instances the maintenance has not only wiped out the hoped for saving, but has exceeded original cost. And in many cases also it has been necessary to build entirely new streets—of permanent construction.

There are communities, however, which know the cheapest is not always the best. Many of these also built streets several years ago. And they built for permanency with concrete.

Those concrete streets, built in accordance with approved standards of highway construction, are in as good condition today as when they were built.

Which of these communities will yours be?

PROSPERITY AND POLITICS

It is curious that the greatest asset which the country possesses, namely, prosperity, should get into politics, but there is no doubt that it is in politics, and is a live issue. It would seem as if one party is extremely positive that prosperity is here and that prosperity will stay. Another party declines to admit the presence of prosperity and will not believe that it can be realized until that particular party comes into power. Our people are concerned with actual prosperity and not with partisan or political prosperity. They will not figure the measure of prosperity existing by political speeches, but by their bank accounts and balance sheets. To inject the question of prosperity into a political campaign is essentially foolish. If it does not exist, talking about it will not create it. If it does exist, you cannot dissipate it by negatives. Let us enjoy the prosperity that may be in existence and seek to promote it rather than to frighten it away. Let us take prosperity out of politics so that it will stand on its own feet.

GOVERNMENT CREDIT

The credit of the United States is the best in the world. At the close of the World War the value of Liberty Loan bonds fell below par, although the government is paying 4 1/2 per cent. Thousands of holders of these bonds became panic stricken and sold the government short. That was a foolish thing to do. In due time, faith and confidence in the ability of the government to pay these bonds when due became established and they soon went back to par. Now witness the difference in the condition that existed in 1919 and that of September, 1927, when $250,000,000 of three and five-year bonds, 8 1/2 per cent, over-subscribed by more than three times. No, it doesn't pay to sell the government short.

The American people have a big gain, but it has to be secured before they know where to find it.

FREDERIC NEWS

Elmer Batterson and wife of Jackson accompanied by Miss Bentley and gentleman friend, visited at the home of Mrs. Batterson over Sunday and called on old friends. Mrs. Elmer Batterson was formerly Miss Edna Goss.

David Flagg of Detroit spent his vacation here last week. Mrs. Ed Preston has been here the last two weeks at the parental home, Charles Craven's.

Miss Lola Craven had her tonsils removed at Mercy hospital last week. Miss Ethel Parsons and Frank Bader of Saginaw were married at the county seat last Wednesday evening by Justice Kraus.

Returning home for a nine o'clock supper, they were met by the young fry, and all the blunderbusses they could scare up, with cow bells and other noisy instruments to greet them.

Mrs. Mattie Moore of Saginaw visited Mrs. Roy Roe last week. Miss Emma Armstrong returned from her vacation in Saginaw last Saturday with her brother.

Mrs. Earl Quick and children returned to their home in Detroit last week. Ed Higgins and wife were up from Lansing for a week and visit.

Miss Hankins, our lady teacher, is nicely located at the minister's home near the schoolhouse for the winter. Lloyd Welch has returned from sailing on the Great Lakes for the season.

Mrs. Ed Welch is working in Gaylord. Mrs. Alfred Armstrong enjoyed a visit from her father and family of Gaylord last week.

Charles Bader and John Ensign moved to Midland last week with their families. This takes nine children away from our school.

John Carstensen of Manistique, who used to reside here years ago at Milltown, was calling on old schoolmates last Monday enroute to Flint. Timely also saved the home of Wm. Long last Monday morning from fire, as it had a good start.

John Burke and wife went to Toledo last Monday to meet Chester. Mrs. Prowx, of St. Ignace, sister of the Delaire brothers, is visiting her niece, Mrs. Ray Murphy.

Mike McCue, an old-time resident of 25 years ago, was here calling on old friends. Mrs. Gilbert Cramm, who was visiting in Detroit, returned home last week and has been under the doctor's care since returning.

Miss Merle Patterson will spend her vacation in Detroit the next two weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Wixson, daughter Ethel, and Max Tolin and wife were Major Sellers Sunday.

Norman Fisher is improving the town by putting a new roof on his house.

LIBRARY ASS'N MEETING AT JACKSON
The Michigan Library Association will hold its thirty-seventh annual meeting at Jackson, October 18-19.

Mrs. Speck, librarian, of the Grayling township public library. One of the chief functions of the library association is the promotion, encouragement and improvement of library service throughout Michigan.

That there are still 29% of the people of Michigan without library service is a fact recently brought to light by an investigation of library extension by the American Library Association.

The past 50 years of library progress leaves much to be done in the way of library development.

Also the fact that over 29% of the people of Michigan lack libraries, as Mrs. Speck has pointed out, places with its library established many years ago among the more progressive half of Michigan communities.

Michigan has some towns of very small population, but it is not possible to support libraries effectively. In such localities, the county library system is of especial advantage.

There is a county library law in Michigan which allows a board of supervisors to establish a county library and appoint a county library board. This county library may be established by means of a contract between some existing library and the board of supervisors, or the board of supervisors may establish an entirely independent organization.

A half mill tax may be raised by the county for the support of the library. County libraries will probably be the ultimate solution of book needs for all rural communities.

FINANCIAL AND INDUSTRIAL RESUME
(By William McMahon, Pres. New York Institute of Financial Research)

The average of industry is running satisfactorily, with improvement in sight for the last quarter of the year. The steel industry has picked up a whole lot this last week, with demand mainly from the construction trades.

Car loadings are beginning to climb and will probably keep climbing for the rest of the year anyway. The Ford plant are little panicky over the Ford puzzle. Only a very few of the motor units are keeping up production and making real profits.

The Department of Commerce reports that the dollar volume of business for the past week, as seen from check payments, was substantially higher than either in the preceding week or the corresponding week of last year. This is an important piece of bullish news.

Wholesale prices are a little lower than a year ago, but both wholesale and retail trade are better than the preceding week. The trend of commodity prices, however, is upward.

Money is still cheap, failures are on the gain, the metal market is unchanged from last week. Bullish reports appear at this writing (Saturday). Wheat and corn are firm, rubber prices have declined fractionally. Textiles, sugars, leather and oils are healthily plodding along about as they were last week.

Stocks are high. A few are too high. In consideration of high earnings of companies, more stocks are selling too low than there are those selling too high. The rails will enjoy the due boom, established and they soon went back to par. Now witness the difference in the condition that existed in 1919 and that of September, 1927, when $250,000,000 of three and five-year bonds, 8 1/2 per cent, over-subscribed by more than three times. No, it doesn't pay to sell the government short.

The American people have a big gain, but it has to be secured before they know where to find it.

DISTRICT TEACHERS' MEETINGS

There will be speakers of national and international reputation on the programs for the annual meetings of the nine districts of the Michigan Education Association this year. The dates of these meetings and the cities in which they will be held are as follows: October 6 to 8, District 7, Ironwood; October 20-21, District 2, at Saginaw; District 3 at Jackson; October 24-25, District 5 at Ludington; District 6 at Cheboygan; October 27-28, District 8 at Kalamazoo; October 29-30, District 1 at Detroit; October 31 and November 1, District 4 at Grand Rapids, and District 9 at Detroit.

The programs in each district have been arranged with three main types of meetings: General sessions where lectures are provided upon topics of special interest and timeliness, without particular reference to the specialized field of education; division meetings for the formal discussion of problems pertaining to some of the broader departments of public education; and section meetings, which are designed to give groups of teachers occasion for the investigation and discussion of their special interests and which provide opportunity whereby every teacher may participate directly.

The speakers who are to address the three general sessions this year in all districts except the seventh are Oswald Ryan, Indiana orator, author, and student of affairs; Maurice G. Hindus, lecturer and author; and Edward C. Elliott, president of Purdue University.

Some of the speakers who will address the division meetings in the different districts are: Miss Alice Temple of the School of Education, University of Chicago; William McAndrew, Superintendent of Schools, Chicago; Henry T. Moore, President Skidmore College, Saratoga Springs, N. Y.; W. C. Reavis, University of Chicago; Miss Florence Hale, State Supervisor of Rural Schools, Augusta, Maine; and Dr. Franklin Bobbitt, of the University of Chicago.

The Parent-Teacher division meetings will be open to the public without admission requirements.

Oswald Ryan, a recognized authority on America's problems of immigration, will address the general meetings of the Michigan Education Association in eight districts on the subject, "Who Shall Inherit the United States?" He is a student of national and international affairs, a leader in political and social movements, a writer on governmental and literary subjects, and an orator who has spoken on notable occasions on both sides of the Atlantic.

His story is one of action with a background of scholarship. Graduating with high honors from Harvard College in 1911, he studied in the Harvard law school and later became a member of the teaching staff in the American History department at Harvard. Afterwards he plunged into professional and civic activities in the central-west, serving as a state attorney, a city attorney, a candidate of his party in a notable fight for municipal reform, an active participant in state and national politics, and a leader in the American Legion, of which he is a former national committeeman.

Oswald Ryan has a thorough knowledge of the great international forces that have operated in post-war Europe. He studied the Fascist movement in Italy and Germany; he was present in the Ruhr when the grim struggle between Germany and France over German reparations was at its height; he witnessed the tragedy of England's industrial life. He has personally talked with the foremost leaders of Europe, including Lloyd George, Churchill, MacDonald, Robert Cecil, Arthur Henderson, and Admiral Beatty of Great Britain; Hainisch and the ministers of Austria; Marshal Foch and the political leaders of France and Germany; General Jacques of Belgium; Ex-Premier Apponyi of Hungary; General Haller and the ministers of Poland; and General Diaz and Premier Mussolini of Italy.

Some folks in Michigan think the college students know too much; but a lot of the things they know aren't so.

The criminals should not be petted so much that a person has to become one in order to get any attention.

Many of our people are wearing out their automobile seat cushions much faster than the upholstery of their living room chairs.

The United States government has announced a plan to redeem two billion dollars of Second Liberty Bonds in November. The retirement of this issue will bring millions of dollars of cash into the hands of millions of persons, and swindlers are already on the trail to collect these millions from the hands of the unwary. Every employer should warn his workers against those who offer questionable securities paying a fabulous high interest in exchange for this cash. Employers should make every effort to prevent any of their workers from being swindled and should insist that they get in touch with their bankers, the local Better Business Bureau, or their own employers when they are approached to purchase these perfumed and valueless securities.

Judge Gary was a man who realized to the full how easy it was to dupe even intelligent people in the matter of investments and there in the following significant paragraph in his will:

"I sincerely request my wife and my children and descendants that they steadfastly decline to sign any bonds or obligations of any kind as surety for any person, or persons, that they refrain from participating their income from any respect; that they refuse to make any loans except on the basis of first class, well-known securities, and that they invariably decline to invest in any untied or doubtful securities or property or enterprise of business. They should reject any representations or opinions of others if involved in any doubt. They will be approached frequently with suggestions for investments that are not entitled to be relied upon from a business standpoint."

Annual Fire Prevention week

Fire Prevention Week is to be held this year from October 9 to 15. Throughout the country various organizations will again attempt to train the public in offsetting the greatest menace in the United States today. Our people will do well to learn, and profit by example.

The tragedy of fire is that it is almost entirely preventable. There are, of course, natural causes for conflagrations that cannot be helped, but these are a very small percentage of the total. The greatest damage is caused by carelessness and ignorance. Billions of dollars are wasted and destroyed each year by a few people's carelessness. It would not be so reprehensible if the loss were borne by them alone. But it must be shared, directly or indirectly, by every citizen and taxpayer.

It is the duty of every citizen to co-operate in the observation of Fire Prevention Week. And it should be his pleasure. Fire loss can be stopped. And in a single week, if everyone will observe and learn, a great deal can be accomplished in the way of reducing it.—Manufacture.

ing will be open to the public without admission requirements.
